Police station blaze caught in nick of time

By LEIGH JABS

Toowoomba firefighters battled flames and searing heat to save the city's historic police station yesterday.

Fire raced up an 8m pine outside the Neil Street station about 2pm and scorched the building's first-floor awning.

Queensland Fire and Rescue Authority officers used a high-pressure hose reel to put out the tree fire.

Station officer Graham Pointing said eaves were checked and firefighters detected no more smoke, but backup (an Anzac Avenue unit) was requested five minutes later as smoke was reported in the second-storey gutter.

A firefighter elevated on a telescopic platform saw flames in the
